the law of last winter:Mrs John Winans, Janesville.

the one-mill school tax, amounting to about $600,000, will be apportioned by State Superintendent Wells in about three weeks, and will, for the last time, be passed out the state treasurer's office through county and town officers to school district treasurers.
After this, in accordance with the new law, the apportionment will be made by the state superintendent in November, before the money is collected, instead of in June, six months later. The county treasurers will then keep the moneys collected in their own counties, unless there is a surplus. The state will handle only the small amounts necessary to balance accounts between the different counties.

ILLINOIS.

The Senate Practically Kills the House Compulsory Education Bill—A Fight in the Senate.SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 3.—The compulsory education bill which passed the house a month or so ago is no more. The house number and the enacting words are all that is left of the bill. The senate and house bills on this subject were made a special order in the senate. The house bill was read a second time and Senator Berry, chairman of the committee on education, moved to amend by striking out all after the enacting words and inserting the senate bill as amended last week. It was carried by a vote of 28 to 22 and it was ordered to a third reading. The senate passed the remaining appropriation bills on the calendar. The senate adopted an amendment to the building and loan association bill obliging loan associations organized outside the state and doing business in Illinois to deposit $100,000 with the state treasurer.A decided sensation was created during a discussion of a township organization in the senate. Senators Campbell and Allen lost their tempers, and the former struck his colleague a blow. Senator Allen staggered back, and, picking up an ink-stand, was about to return Senator Campbell's compliment when mutual friends interfered and stopped the row.
Both gentlemen expressed themselves as exceedingly sorry for what had occurred, and just before adjournment, rising of a question of personal privilege, apologized to the senate and its presiding officer for their unseemly conduct.Dr. Moore made an attempt in the house to resurrect his bill conferring the right of suffrage upon women in all school and municipal elections. The bill failed to pass last week and the motion was to reconsider that vote in order to place the measure upon its passage a second time. The motion to reconsider prevailed, and the roll was called upon the passage of the bill. The result of the vote was 63 yeas and 44 nays.
As the necessary seventy-seven affirma-tives were not obtained the bill was lost, and will not be heard from again this session. The house concurred in the recommendation of the committee against the passage of the joint resolution providing for an amendment to the constitution in favor of woman's suffrage. Mr. Dixon's motion to substitute the Miller bill for the measure to convert the Pontiac reform school into a state reformatory, which was a pending question in the house, was defeated. The original bill was then amended and was under discussion when the house took a recess. It appropriates $150,000 to start the new institution.

MICHIGAN.

Proceedings in Both Branches of the Legislature.LANSING, Mich., June 3.—In the house Tuesday the attempt to substitute the name of St. Joseph for that of Port Michigan given by the house to the consolidated villages of St. Joe and Benton Harbor failed by a vote of 16 to 12, but the vote to reconsider carried and it will come up again. The consolidation bill is temporarily dead, however. A resolution was introduced to investigate the official conduct of Representatives Doyle and Murthe from the upper peninsula, charged in a Detroit morning paper with bribery. In their absence action upon it was made the special order for to-day at 3 p. m. The senate passed a bill consolidating the boards of control of the state penal institutions, placing them under one central board of control, composed of four members, no more than three to be from one political party; it also provides that the board shall exercise the powers and fulfill the duties of Notes from the County.Gaylord Bryan, of Evansville, whose mysterious disappearance a few weeks ago caused considerable anxiety among his friends, was found by his father at work in a sawmill at Gettysburg, Iowa. A few days after reaching home he started for the well to get a pail of water, and not returning search was at once made for him. The pail was found at the well and after a chase through the woods Bryan was caught and brought back to the house, where he now is. Judge Sale appointed Drs.

F. F. Stair and John M. Evans a commission to examine him for insanity.
That duty was performed by the phy-

SECRETARY BLAINE.

He Is Quite Weak and Obligated to Travel by Easy Stages.BOSTON, June 3.—Secretary Blaine, accompanied by his wife and Senator Hale, started for Bar Harbor Tuesday night. Frank Jones, president of the Boston & Maine railroad, furnished the party with his private car "Sorrento." Mr. Blaine was afraid that he would have to remain here longer, as he was quite weak after his trip from New York. His original plan was to start for Maine in the morning. His condition was such, however, that his friends would not allow it. He remained in his room all day, seeing no one and lying down the greater part of the time. The result was marked improvement in his condition, so that he decided to push homeward.
In case Mr. Blaine is affected by the trip the party will stop at his old home in Augusta for a few days. He will then go to Bar Harbor and will remain there three months.

Murder for Which Three Men Are Lynched.NEW ORLEANS, June 3.—On the Grand Bay plantation in Pointe Coupee parish Sunday a number of negroes were engaged in a game of craps when a dispute arose among them which resulted in the killing of Willie Jennings, a laborer. The killing was done by Sam Hummel. Leves hands at once organized themselves into a body for the purpose of avenging the murder of Jennings. This resulted in the hanging of Alex. Campbell, Sam Hummel and another negro whose name was not learned.

Michael Davitt's Mission.

WINNEPEG, Man., June 3.—Michael Davitt, accompanied by his wife, arrived here Tuesday. He was met by a ception. Davitt positively declined to accept it on account of his health.

He will remain in the city unof the Canadian Pacific railway commissioners, for the purpose of inquiring into the condition of the Scotch croft-ers who are settled there. The inter-ing proposed the plan to assist a certain class of them to settle in the north-

ELDON, Ia., June 3.—The exhuming of the remains of Miss Alice Woodward, fact. The young lady's body was found to be lying face down in the coffin, and the appearance of the corpse clearly indicated that a terrible death struggle had occurred in the grave. It is believed the young lady was buried while in a trance.

a number of cities that sent in invitations, and Janesville delegates had to

A WARNING TO ANGELS.

Schweinfurth Is Not Wanted at Kansas City.KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 3.—The plan of George J. Schweinfurth, the Rockford (Ill.) man who claims to be Christ, for establishing a "Heaven," or home for himself and followers here, does not meet with approval by the populace. A meeting was held Monday afternoon for the purpose of taking action on his case. It was decided that the alleged Christ was a blasphemous impostor and a committee of twelve was appointed to look into the matter of eradicating the evil. Among the men who participated in the meeting were some of strongly developed religious tendencies and other men who are looked upon as rather worldly persons. All, however, were of one opinion—that the impostor Christ was a nuisance that should be run out of town—and a notification to Schwein-furth was prepared. A little before 5 o'clock Monday evening an able-bodied man who could be trusted was sent to the house at No. 914 East Fourteenth street with the following message:"KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 1, 1891.—George J.
Schweinfurth: At a meeting held by a committee of citizens it was resolved that you an impostor among a good people in this community, have been a detriment to such an extent that the means adopted as shown hereafter have become a necessity in order to protect some of your unfortunate, weak-minded victims against being led to deviation from the path of good morals and Christianity by your pretended teachings. The people composing this committee are thorough Kansas Cityans, and will not tolerate this impostor any longer, but will adopt the necessary measures to carry out this verdict. We have resolved that for the good of our community you are to leave this city within twenty-four hours, and unless you so comply you must suffer by the consequences. We want an answer by bearer of this letter, and unless you give your non-compliance will be accepted, and you may expect an early visit from THE COMMITTEE."

MENU.

The messenger did not see Schwein-furth, but the communication was handed to one of the "angels," who said the "Christ" was in the upper regions of the "heaven" and would not come downstairs, nor would he deign any reply to unholy communications.
Up to 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon no reply had been received. The committee held an informal meeting to further consider the matter.
The alleged "Christ," instead of miraculously setting at naught the machinations of the unappreciative Kansas Cityans, appealed to the worldly powers that be. He dispatched an "angel" to his honor Mayor Holmes, who entertained the scapular visitor and promised worldly protection to the "Redeemer from Rockford." The "Redeemer" was followed down Main street Tuesday afternoon by a hooting mob.

WIPE OUT BY BLOOD.

An Indiana Farmer Kills the Man Who Brought Disaster to His Home.CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., June 3.—A crawfordsville blood-brother murder occurred at Roachdale, a small town 6 miles south of Crawfordsville, Tuesday morning at 7 o'clock. Noah Evans and wife came into the place in a light road cart and driving up in front of the residence of Richard Adams, stopped. Evans handed the reins to his wife, and, stepping from the cart, walked rapidly up in front of the chair on the porch in which Adams sat, too sick to reach. Evans coolly drew two revolvers and fired eight balls into Adams' body. He then calmly climbed into his cart again, and shaking his smoking weapon, with curses and threats warned the assembling crowd from following him. This done he and his wife drove rapidly off. It was over an hour before a posse, armed with shotguns, started in pursuit. The couple have not been captured and are probably well on their way to the hills of Brown county.Six weeks ago Evans one night shot Adams three times through the window of his home and the victim was just recovering from the wounds then inflicted when he met his death. Evans was not arrested for the first shooting, as he has completely terrorized the community in which he lives and has long defied arrest. The trouble between the men arose over the criminal intimacy between Adams and Mrs. Evans, of which the former boasted in the influence of liquor. Evans was cleared of the charge of murder twenty-five years ago when tried with his brother, who was given a life sentence for cutting the throats of an aged couple for $350.

THE PRESIDENT'S TRIP NOT WASTED.

The good results that have already followed President Harrison's trip suggests that at least one tour of this kind might well be made during each administration. It might even be advisable to require such a trip through the country as a part of the executive duties. Washington city is not in touch with the mass of the plain people through the country, and a majority of those visiting it can give the President but a poor idea of popular requirements. To make a journey among the people while congress is not in session is indeed a necessary corollary to the constitutional duty imposed on the President to give information to congress from time to time as to the condition of the country. Many appropriations are made with less constitutional warrant than would be one to pay the expenses of the President while journeying through the country. Such visits, indeed, place the President on his good behavior while in Washington. An executive who transcends his rightful powers in attempts to govern the country cannot expect to receive a cordial reception from a people who have elected congressmen to do what he attempts. It is in the fact that President Harrison has not tried to force any policy on congress that his popularity largely consists.

WILL HAVE MONEY FOR FARMERS.

The fact that large exports of gold have been made to Europe during the past few weeks need occasion no uneasiness. For years past this country has done more in the way of accumulating gold than any other, and it is time that some of it went abroad, to equalize matters. What we are sending away now will come back in the fall, when our crops are moved, and if gold exports cause temporary depression now, it is better for the country, especially for farmers, than to have depression come in the fall, while their crops are being sold. Usually a stringency in the money market comes at the worst time for farmers. It is to be hoped that this year the case will be different.

STILL MUTTERING AT VICTORIA.

Newfoundland is still muttering as vigorously as the United States did 115 years ago. Her people are plucky and insist on fair treatment by the mother government. In our civil war, English statesmen thought they made a point against us by denouncing coercion of a people into unwilling allegiance as always unjustifiable. It seems quite likely that their arguments against a coercive policy might now be used against themselves. The federation of England is not one that can be maintained by force. The people of Newfoundland well know this, and it is this fact that gives increased boldness to their demands.

RICKETY JANESVILLE SIDEWALKS.

In Janesville no sidewalk is ever condemned until the last board is on edge the last nail pulled out. In Oshkosh, on the other hand, a man has been suit because there was a crack between two boards into which he thrust his cane. He fell, broke his leg and is now suing for $10,000. The trial should be followed closely by Janesville aldermen, for it may show just what a sidewalk must be to be sound in the eye of the law.

Germany's great warrior, Count von Moltke, was once asked to name the books which had exercised the greatest influence upon his life. In reply he mentioned the following: "The Bible, Homer's 'Iliad,' Littrou's 'Wonders of the Heavens,' Liebig's 'Letter on Chemistry,' and Clausewitz's 'On War.'" The works of Schiller, Goethe, Shakespeare, Walter Scott, Rantke and Carlyle gave as those which he never tired of reading. The Iliad, in translation, he read when nine years old.

Food Commissioner Harkness is flying in the face of democratic pretences. He says that at first he was disposed to refuse the office, because he considered it a sinecure, but on investigation he changed his mind. He realized that the office was of great importance, especially to Wisconsin farmers. Mr. Harkness' conclusions are those of every intelligent man who has investigated the charges made by the Democratic papers as to the uselessness of the offices created by Republican administrations.

The foreign trade of the United States was larger during the four months to May 1 than ever before, and for April was heaviest of all. During the four months our imports were in round numbers two hundred and eighty-seven millions of dollars and exports three hundred and three millions. For twelve months our exports were eight hundred and seventy-millions and imports eight hundred and forty-five millions.

Now that the sound of bass drum and cymbals has died away, the democratic attorney general is nowhere to be seen. His effort to simulate a breathless pursuit of Senator Sawyer when the senator had been sitting calmly in his Oshkosh office for a week, was so transparent a bit of Fourth of July fireworks that everyone laughed.

Rock county farmers no longer lay their troubles to the drouth, but find in the hail a fresh source of worry.

SOME WELL KNOWN FACES.

An Octogenarian Educator.

DR. JAMES MCCOSH.

Princeton college, New Jersey, recently observed the eightieth birthday of her honored president, Dr. McCosh, who received several costly presents from the faculty and old students. He became president of Princeton just 100 years after John Witherspoon's inauguration to that office, and has proved a worthy successor indeed. James McCosh was born April 1, 1811, at Karskocsh, Ayrshire, Scotland, and was a pupil of the renowned Dr. Thomas Chalmers at the University of Edinburgh. After a long and glorious career as educator, preacher and theologian he came to the United States in 1838 and took the presidency of Princeton college. His name is a synonym for solid learning and unwavering orthodoxy of the Scotch kind.

Do Not Carress Strange Dogs.

A savage Newfoundland dog owned by one of the proprietors of Stockton Park recently bit Mrs. George W. Loud, of Canada, inflicting serious injuries about her throat and face. Mrs. Loud was visiting a friend at Stockton named Mrs. Mayer, and as she was passing along the street she patted the dog. The beast instantly sprang at her throat. The injured woman was taken to the drugstore of Dr. Beale, and her wounds dressed. There were six abrasions of the skin on her hand, neck and face, and she bled profusely. The dog was killed as soon as possible, and Mrs. Loud was pronounced to be getting on favorably. —Philadelphia Times.

William Timmons, postmaster of Ladelle, Indiana, writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from kidney and liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman, of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best kidney and liver medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and doesn't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease of life. Only 50 cents a bottle. At W. T. Sherer & Co.'s drug store."

ZENO'S CAPERS.

A Texas Parrot That Was Exceptionally Lively and Sagacious.

Zeno was an inmate of our house for many years, says a Houston (Tex.) correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, and during that time seemed to become almost a member of the family, so peculiar was his character and so marked his individuality. He was a pretty parrot, with such lovely shades mingled with the green on his shoulders and such brilliant red on his wings, that we children thought him the very paragon of parrots. How many times have I seen him side up to mother when she would be a little pale about the eyes, and climb up to the back of her chair, lean over her shoulder and peer into her face, asking sympathetically: "What's the matter? Got a headache?" My sister Nell was a little fond of standing before the glass, and whenever Zeno caught her there he never failed to climb to the bureau and strut back and forth before the mirror, exclaiming: "Just see us! Ain't we pretty?" until Nell was fairly driven away.

Zeno always noticed strangers very critically, and I am sorry to say that he got into the habit of making remarks about them. A very elegant young gentleman called on sister Nell one evening, and we didn't know that parrot was in the room until suddenly there he was, out in the middle of the floor, promenading back and forth in front of the young man, twisting his head about and crying: "Oh, my! Just look at us! Ain't we fine!" Sister Nell got the broom and swept Zeno out, and he shouted "Murder! Oh, my! But ain't we fine!" all the way to the kitchen. The young man was very much offended, though, as he thought we had put Zeno up to it, and he never came back any more.

One of Zeno's chief amusements was worrying the chickens. He would spend hours in the poultry-yard, and would slowly slip up behind a hen that was scratching or was taking a dustbath, and would tuck her feathers unmercifully, sometimes pulling them out, and the hens would run cackling and squawking away, while the parrot would walk up and down and chuckle, as nearly as a parrot can. In a few moments the hens would forget the incident, and Zeno would select another victim and begin to side around to surprise her in turn.

On one occasion, however, Zeno made a slight miscalculation. He succeeded in slipping up on the hen he had selected, and tucking her feathers with great vigor prepared to step back and enjoy his usual chuckle, but the hen proved to be a new game rooster which brother John had brought home that morning. Mother heard a wild flapping of wings, cackling and screaming, but did not hurry to see what was the matter, as Zeno was always creating a disturbance among the fowls. When she went at last, she met Zeno coming in at the back door, his head covered with blood, and every feather ruffled, dragged and dirty.

"Why, poor Zeno! What has happened?" cried mother in dismay, but Zeno waddled past her, exclaiming: "Never mind me! Go and tend to the hen!"

He had bitten the rooster's bill off, and John's prize had to be killed, but Zeno never had any taste after that for slipping up on unwary hens.

THE SHAWL.

An Article Which While Out of Style Is Yet of Great Use.

Many might be disposed to ask what American wears a shawl, just as long ago the scornful question was raised: "Who reads an American book?" Both these questions, however, simply reveal ignorance, says the Dry Goods Economist, as there is a steady and increasing demand for these articles of wearing apparel, though for ordinary purposes they may be said to be wholly out of fashion.

For the usual purposes of a costume, certainly for ladies who wish to conform to the reigning styles, the shawl has few attractions. And still, as a matter of fact, almost every woman has one or more shawls. The superficial critic overlooks the numberless purposes to be served by one of these articles, quite apart from its use as an item in a fashionable costume.

Take the function which they so often have of the rug. Here alone is a sphere of usefulness which makes them almost necessary in every home. They are, moreover, an indispensable adjunct for the traveler either by land or sea. They are a very handy thing to have in the house where there are babies.

For picnic purposes the shawl is of most practical use, and nothing has been more recently invented that is quite so convenient article to throw over the head and shoulders when out upon a neighborhood errand.

Apart from these uses, incidental indeed, but universal, there is a large trade, particularly among American citizens of foreign extraction and throughout the northwest, in the shawl as an ordinary article of dress. It is very difficult to keep in mind all the elements in our heterogeneous population.

The broad-minded are apt to forget that the demands of certain classes of the population in states like Wisconsin or the Dakotas may be altogether different from that to which the tradesman caters in eastern centers.

Very often an immense trade is quietly carried on in fabrics and patterns which would cause a buyer in these latitudes to be regarded as a candidate for the lunatic asylum. As the proverb says, it takes all kinds of people to make the world, and many of these people are still attached to their comfortable and graceful shawl and wear it habitually.

CONCERNING BIG GUNS.

Those That Can Shoot Only Twelve Miles Are Not in It.

A man who makes the claim, boldly and badly, that his ancestor was one of the passengers in Noah's ark entered the car at Cumberland street on Thursday morning, says the Brooklyn Eagle. He found a vacant seat beside a smoke-begrimed clay pipe, with a red-whiskered man supporting it, pulled out a slip of bearing on its cover a disheartening representation of New York and Brooklyn blazing and bursting under the shells of a foe located somewhere down near Norton's point, and began to make very audible comments on the excellence and accuracy of the picture. He went so far, in fact, as to assert that every country in the world was so well equipped with naval guns that the great metropolitan center of the United States was practically defenseless. He made no secret of the fact that he got his information from a source that supplies the inhabitants of menageries with startling news concerning their individual movements, and elaborated the theory that a Peruvian gunboat, with two horse pistols aboard, could knock the palatial public and private buildings of the sister cities into smithereens. The friend and supporter of the clay pipe grew weary and remarked:

"Sorra a bit or it!"

"My friend," observed the man with the pamphlet, "you evidently take me for an alarmist. But I am not. I don't believe you've ever seen any of these guns, I refer to. Why, sir—"

"Aisy, now," said the passenger behind the pipe. "I've seen more guns in me days than ye ever looked at. How far, now, might that biggest wan ye was referin' to a short time ago shoot?"

"Shoot, sir? Twelve miles, sir. Yes, sir, easily twelve miles, sir. And 'twould knock the new post office into ruins before we knew what we were about."

"Twelve miles!" remarked the supporter of the pipe in a tone so scornful that the mustache on a cigarette smoker on the other side of the car involuntarily curled. "Twelve miles! An' ye call that a gun?"

"Nothing like it, sir. Ship, sir, way out in the bay, can bombard the sugar refineries in the eastern district and clean out Long Island City."

"Ye're gabbin' an' ye're gabbin'," impressively observed the critical passenger. "Did ye ever see a gun, anywhere? Talkin' about the new post office Lemme tell ye about a gun I saw myself at Dover. D'ye know where Dover is? Over in England formin' the Frinch coast. Well, be all that's sound, I saw a gun there whose equal can't be found in the world. Ye may blave it or not, but on the barrel of the cannon was this—an 'I'll never forget it. 'Ram me tight and sponge me clean an' I'll send a bullet to Calais grane'—an' that's twenty-one miles across the say."

LINCOLN'S KINDNESS.

The Peculiar Bill He Asked a Young Soldier to Pay.

An anecdote showing Lincoln's merciful nature in a touching light, and related by Mr. L. E. Chittenden in his "Recollections of President Lincoln and His Administration," from an authentic source is the one of the sleeping sentinel, William Scott, the Vermont boy, whose life Lincoln saved after he had been condemned to be shot. Lincoln personally saw Scott and talked with him a long time. Scott would not talk to his comrades of the interview afterward, but on the night when he had received a letter from home, he finally opened his heart to a friend in this wise:

"The president was the kindest man I had ever seen. I was scared at first, for I had never before talked with a great man. But Mr. Lincoln was so easy with me, so gentle, that I soon forgot my fright. * * * He stood up and he says to me: 'My boy, stand up here and look me in the face.' I did as he bade me. 'My boy,' he said, 'you are not going to be shot to-morrow. I am going to trust you and send you back to your regiment. I have received here from Washington, where I have got a great deal to do, and what I want to know is how you are going to pay my bill.' There was a big lump in my throat. I could scarcely speak. But I got it crowded down and managed to say: 'There is some way to pay you and I will find a way, a little. There is the bounty in the savings bank. I guess we could borrow some money on a mortgage on the farm.' I was sure the boys would help, so I thought we could make it up if it wasn't more than five or six hundred dollars. 'But it is a great deal more than five or six hundred dollars,' he said. Then I said I didn't see how, but I was sure I would find some way—if I lived."

"Then Mr. Lincoln put his hands on my shoulders and looked into my face as if he was sorry, and said: 'My boy, my bill is a very large one. Your friends cannot pay it, nor your bounty, nor your farm, nor all your comrades. There is only one man in all the world who can pay it, and his name is William Scott. If from this day William Scott does his duty, so that if I was there when he comes to die, he can look me in the face as he does now, and say I have kept my promise, and I have done my duty as a soldier, then my debt will be paid. Will you make that promise and try to keep it?' I said I would make the promise, and, with God's help, I would keep it. He went away out of my sight forever. I know I shall never see him again, but may God forgive me if ever I forget his kind words or my promise."

Yes, there was a poor fellow in Chicago, a short time ago, who, waking up out of a trance, found himself laid out all ready for burial, and sitting bolt upright in his coffin, gave a cry of astonishment and expired. FEW LEFT TO SUFFER.

Diphtheria-Stricken Families Sadly Reduced in Number.

NO NEW CASES REPORTED TO-DAY.

A Wagon Load of Groceries Sent to the Quarantined Homes in the Fourth Ward This Morning—Several Rooms in the Schools Closed.

4:00 p. m.—The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. August Richter has just died. St. Paul's German Lutheran school was reopened today, but only fourteen pupils out of one hundred were present, and no lessons were heard. It is probable that there will be no school until next week.

In the city schools the attendance today was about the same as yesterday. Several of the lower rooms have been closed, pupils from two rooms being put into one.

No new cases of diphtheria have been reported in the city, and members of the board of education feel that it would be a mistake to close the schools, and turn the children out on the streets.

Among the Stricken Families.

Diphtheria claimed another member of the Bergman family, George Charles, aged three years and eight months, dying at 4 o'clock. The remains were taken to Oak Hill cemetery and buried at 8 o'clock in the evening. The family consisted of ten children, two weeks ago. Six have died with the diphtheria since May 24. Two of the boys not affected with the disease, have been sent to the country to live with an uncle. The two other boys are at home sick, but it is thought they will survive.

At the Richter Home.

The family of August Richter, Park Avenue, consisted of ten children, four having died since May 20. Six are now living, one girl being in the Deaf and Dumb school in Delavan, one boy is at work for Robert Scott at Oak Hill cemetery, and is not affected. A boy two years old is very sick and may before many hours pass. A boy eleven years old is down at this time, but the physicians say he is likely to recover. Two of the children are living in the barn, and so far have escaped the scourge.

The family of Mr. and Mrs. James Clough consisted of three children. Two have died within a few days. The third, a boy sixteen years old, is only slightly affected at this time, and all indications point to his speedy recovery.

No Contagion in the First Ward.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Foley, 71 Pearl street, lost one of their children, the remains being removed from the house in time, it is thought, to prevent other's sickness.

Albert E. Hatherell, at 119 Pearl street, is rapidly improving, he being only slightly affected.

Mrs. W. H. Judd, South First street, is reported better today.

The case of scarletina at the home of George Schaller, 52 North street, is only a slight case, and the child is improving.

These are the families that are under the quarantine regulations, none other being reported by the health officer. This also includes all the diphtheria patients in the city, according to official reports.

Quarantined Families Well Fed.

Reports that there has been any lack of food among quarantined families is steadily denied. The neighbors living in the vicinity of the barn where the Richter children are quarantined claim that an abundance of food has been sent to the family every day, and that if any suffering has occurred it has been from lack of care and not from hunger. This is undoubtedly true. There is likely to be no lack of food for some time at least, as an east side merchant sent to the Bergman and Richter homes this morning, a wagon load of forty dollars' worth of groceries, including these articles: Ham, sugar, tea, coffee, salt, corn meal, soap, canned corn, oatmeal, bananas, candy, maple sugar, baking powder, dates, figs, marmalade, crackers, ginger snaps, canned peaches, rice, syrup, codfish, honey, jams, green gages, pine apple, soda crackers, macaroni, cheese, pork, asparagus.

Pine Apple Juice for Diphtheria.

"I see the papers recommend pineapple juice for diphtheria," said a Second ward man. "I have tried it and it is the best thing that can be had. I am told that the remedy was suggested by negroes in the south. Anyway, when my little nephew had diphtheria a year and a half ago I got a pineapple and squeezed out the juice. After a while we got some of it down the boy's throat, and in a short time he was cured. The pineapple should be thoroughly ripe. The juice is of so corrosive a nature that it will cut out the diphtheritic mucus. I tell you it is a sure cure."

The best precaution you can take against diphtheria, scarlet fever and other contagious diseases, is to procure a bottle of "Anti-Contagion," and use faithfully, according to directions. It has the following advantages: Simple to use, cheap, non-poisonous and the unequalled indorsement of sanitary boards and leading physicians. For sale by Stearns & Baker.

It is shown by the official reports made to the commissioner of insurance that the American Mutual Accident Association of Oshkosh, Wis., wrote three times as many policies during the past year as any other association doing business in the state. This shows that the prompt payment of claims, together with its new plan of insurance, has made it the most popular accident insurance of the day.

HAVOC FROM A BOLT.

Lightning Destroys Farm Property Three Miles from Town.

THE DELAVAN ROAD WASHED OUT.

Railroad Trains Much Interfered with by the Rush of Water—A Rainfall of Four Inches Reported—Streets Cut in the City.

Last night's rain storm was general throughout southern and central Wisconsin. In Rock county it was the heaviest that has fallen in many months, Heimstreet measuring it at four inches.

There was very little or no wind accompanying the rain, consequently trees and shrubbery did not suffer material damage.

In the city scores of culverts were filled with sand. Streets were cut by the flood of water pouring through them, and in some localities cellars were flooded.

The Delavan road, just outside the city limits, suffered badly from washouts. Just beyond the hill this road is reported almost wholly destroyed.

A Barn in Flames.

Lightning struck the barn and windmill on the Zader farm, three miles south of the city. There were three work horses and a mare and young colt in the barn at the time, two of the work horses being killed and the barn set on fire. The mare became frightened and ran out of the barn.

The frightened animal then commenced running around the barn neighing for her colt, which attracted the men in the house.

They went out only to see the barn on fire. Quick work soon extinguished the flames and the barn was saved with only nominal damage. It was found that two of the three horses that were standing side by side in the barn had been killed, their rope halters being burned from the headstalls to the mangers where they were tied. The other horse and the colt were uninjured.

The Barn Was Struck Twice.

The lightning is said to have struck the barn twice, between nine and ten o'clock. The wind-mill was also struck and somewhat damaged. The barn and wind-mill were insured in the La Prairie town company, and the horses in the Madison company. The farm was occupied by Martin Dixon to whom the horses belonged. The team killed was a valuable one, said to be worth four hundred dollars.

Many Tracks Washed Out.

Local railway men report no damage to the railways in this vicinity. They say, however, that there is a washout somewhere between this city and Beloit on the Northwestern, and another on the Madison division near Footville.

The St. Paul company has a washout near Mineral Point.

Reports from the Madison division of the Northwestern says there was extensive damage by flood in and around Baraboo. Passengers from Janesville to Chicago who expected to take the Northwestern this morning, were compelled to wait until 12:30, the early train only running to Beloit.

FISH WIRED FROM THE RIVER.

Snaring For Red Horse at the Court Street Bridge.

Three men leaned over the Court street bridge today, fish pole in hand. Now, any small boy can dangle a fish pole over Court street bridge.

But few small boys take fish out of water in such a "one-two-three" order.

The fish poles the trio had were ordinary cane poles, but there was no fish on the end. Instead there were thin brass wires, eight feet long. These wires just touched the water, and on the end of each was a six-inch loop. When a modest young man from the Third ward came along, the three loops were dangling in the current.

Where's your bait?" inquired the young man from the Third ward.

"What would we do with bait?" That was a stickler, for there certainly was no place in sight where bait could be used to any particular advantage. The inquiring pilgrim put his arms on the bridge rail, and watched. He saw a white spot in the water.

A big "red-horse" had been attracted by the bright wire, and he held his breath while the lazy denizen of the river poked his nose against the loop. The loop sank—clunk!—almost unperceptibly. Around the fish it slipped so gently that the motion could hardly be seen.

Then—"Splash! Spatter! Chug!" and five pounds of red-horse had been jerked out of the water with breath-taking speed, and had settled with a moist and slimy splash on the young man from Park avenue.

The fish-snaring continued unintermitted for some time, with bewildering rapidity. Sixteen were landed in little over an hour. But the young man from the Third did not wait.

BRADFORD BARLEY DAMAGED.

EMERALD GROVE, June 2.—Chinch bugs have caused much trouble, and have made serious inroads on the barley crop.

The exercises here on Memorial day passed off very pleasantly. They commenced about 2 o'clock p. m. The church was crowded to its utmost, a good many going away who could not obtain entrance.

Rev. S. G. Huey of the Presbyterian church of Johnsonston, gave an address which was pronounced by every one as fine. He spoke particularly of the evils which threaten our country at the present time and foremost of all the liquor traffic. The music furnished by the blind from Janesville was very good, and was appreciated by all.

The graves of thirteen soldiers were decorated with flowers and flags. The band played again at the cemetery and Father Boynton made one of his well known appropriate speeches.

After the band was served with an excellent repast in the church parlors they were taken home.

Miss Matie Messenger of Elroy, Wis., is visiting with her sister, Mrs. Dr. Grover, of this place.

Our base ball nine was victorious in their game with Clinton on Saturday. At one time it looked as if it would be a shut out for the visitors, but in the fifth innings they made three scores, and four in the sixth, making seven runs to Emerald Grove's seventeen.

Robert Jones was credited with a home run in the third innings; Kimball and Cheney did good work as batters.

Mrs. L. Spear and daughter Cora, of Milton, were present at Memorial Day exercises.

Several are to be initiated at the regular meeting of the P. of I. next Saturday night, and other business will come before the meeting. Members will please remember.

Our butcher factory declared a dividend of 86 cents per hundred for April.

On Friday evening of this week a strawberry festival will be held at the home of Mrs. Christman Scott in La Prairie. The public are invited to make special efforts to be present.

Philo Kemp and several other of the boys are out with new carriages. They will not ride alone for some time.

There will be a strawberry social at the M. E. parsonage, Friday evening, June 12.

AFTON FEVER PATIENTS BETTER.

The Report That Diphtheria Had Broken Out is Denied.

AFTON, June 3.—Fred Eldridge has the scarlet fever, but it is a light form of the disease, and he is getting along nicely. It was reported that Bert Otis had the diphtheria but it proved to be only a sore throat, and he is now all right again.

Our wait (e) ing telegrapher has returned from Beloit where he worked nights a short time during the absence of the regular operator. He is now operating here as Warren Kleber is laying off for a few days.

The recent showers will help pastures and crops. Worms are injuring many fields of corn, and some farmers are planting over some of their fields.

If you want any thing in the line of farm machinery, buggies, harnesses or sewing machines call on O. D. Antislid and get his prices.

Preparations for observing Children's day are in order.
